ENGLISH

Year 5 & 6

Can you write a postcard as Ariadne.

Remembering the myth that we have just written, can you write a postcard from Ariadne to King Minos (her father) some may have changed his name to King Pythos.

Do not forget the characteristics of a Postcard:

- Informal (But still respectful as you're talking to a King.)
- Description (Different sentence types 2Adjectives, relative clause sentences.)
- Emotive language (You have just fled from your home country and your father.)
- Punctuation (comma after your introduction and clauses, capital letters, full stops.)

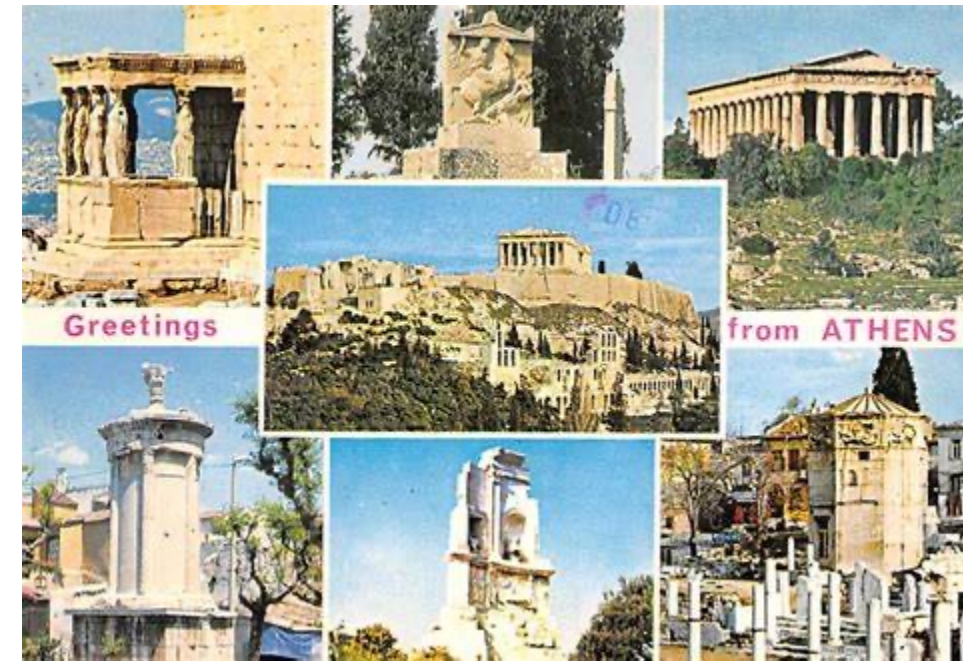

Here is an example

Dear father, _____, I hope you're not too upset about my _____ disappearance. I love Crete and my family, but I couldn't live on an island with a bloodthirsty monster, who willingly sacrificed innocent children. As you're now aware Pythonus has been slayed by the heroic Theseus. TO BE CONTINUED... _____ _____ _____ _____ _____	Athens _____ King Aegeus palace _____ _____ _____ _____
---	--

Remember!

- You must leave space for a picture on the opposite side of the postcard.
