

Descriptions of what might emerge from the egg (and how)

Example A:

Anxiously, the fragile, little dragon peered out of the shell with its bright, inquisitive eyes. It had scaly, smooth skin with the odd hair here and there! The dragon's teeth were both sharp and pointy with a beautiful shine to them. The tail of the dragon was...

Example B:

Hungry, thirsty and trembling, the newly born dragon emerged from its shell and looked at George with wide, sparkly eyes. He sneezed loudly as his nostrils met the cold air. His tail was like...