

Ages 7-11

Open book?

I can describe how to find out information about others by searching online.

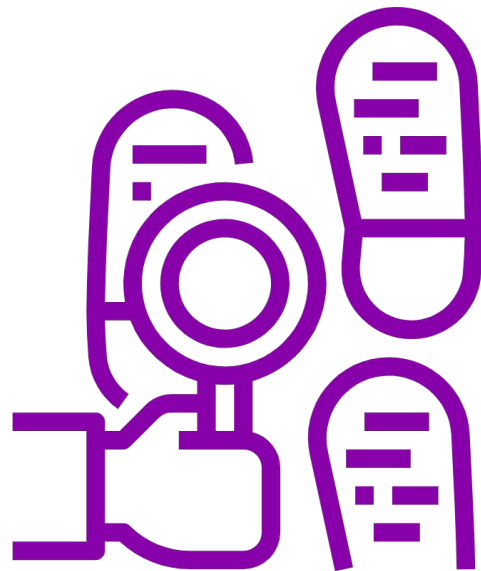

I can explain ways that some of the information about anyone online could have been created, copied or shared by others.

Digital Detectives

You are the modern day Sherlock Holmes. Time to turn detective and look for clues!

- What information might exist about you online?
- Did you post it?
- How might someone find it?
- What impression does it give about you?

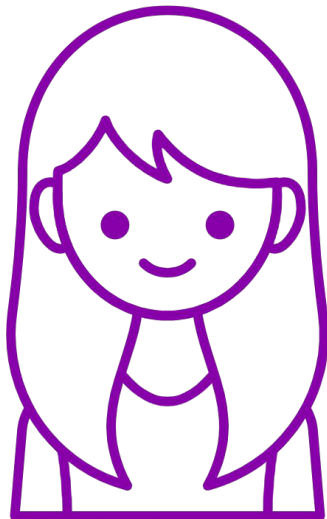

Ages 7-11

Information about me that might be online.	Did you put it there?	How might somebody find it?	What kind of person do I come across as?
Picture of me at sports day	No	Look on the school Twitter	Sporty and determined

How might this have happened?

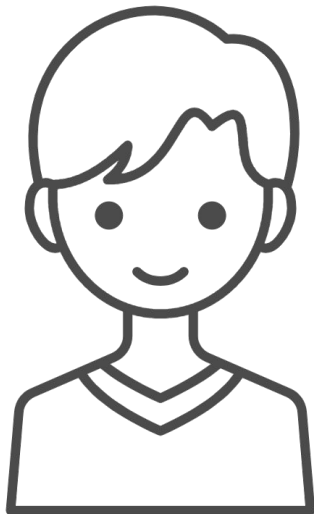

Sarah is a member of several chat groups from school. She is also a keen gamer but makes sure she only plays online against people she knows.

Recently, she has started to get lots of requests to play online against people she doesn't know...

How might this have happened?

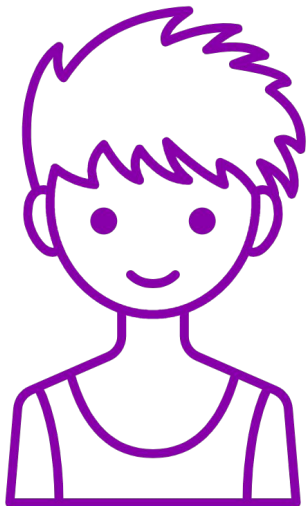

Rakesh has several social media accounts and posts sensible pictures of himself doing the things he enjoys.

One day, one of his friends sends him a screenshot - it is a picture of Rakesh with a speech bubble on the picture saying some unkind things about teachers at his school...

How might this have happened?

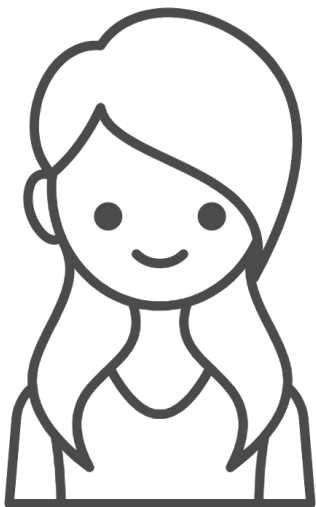

Kyle has recently received a friend request from someone in his school. He has known them for years and trusts them.

However, it's strange because he is already friends with this person on the same social media platform...

How might this have happened?

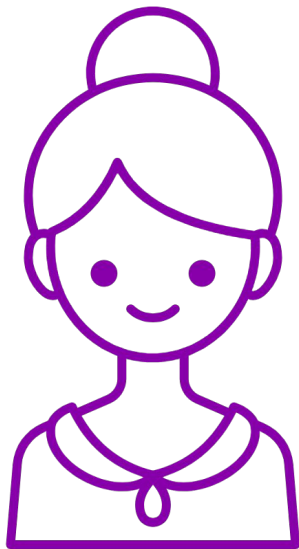

Sunita is very private. She doesn't have any social media and prefers it that way.

However, at school she suddenly starts getting comments from her friends saying that they like the picture of her at the recent birthday party she went to...

How might this have happened?

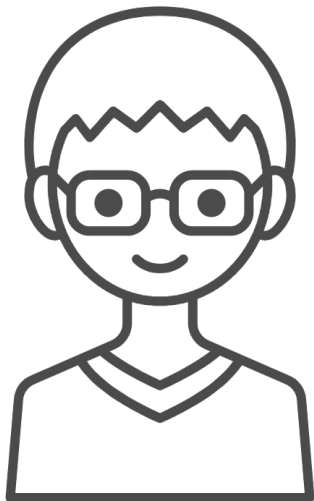

It's Mina's birthday. One of her presents is an amazing photo book from her Aunt and Uncle containing lots of photos from Mina's life.

Mina loves the present but is a little confused as to how her Aunt and Uncle got the pictures...

How might this have happened?

Craig has got a new phone for Christmas. It's his first ever phone and he is really excited.

He makes sure he only gives his number to his best friends - however, soon he starts getting text messages from other children in his class...

